

SLA

Second
Language
Acquisition

Fossilization in Adult Second Language Acquisition

ZhaoHong Han

Contents

Preface	ix
1 Introduction	1
Fossilization and Ultimate Attainment	5
General failure	5
Differential success/failure.	7
A Conceptual Framework	8
An Outline of the Book	10
2 What is Fossilization?	12
Selinker's Definitions	14
Others' View	16
Dictionary Definitions	18
An Alternative Definition	19
Key Issues	21
Is fossilization global or local?	21
Is fossilization a product or a process?	22
Summary	23
3 Behavioral Reflexes and Causal Variables.	25
An Overview	25
Sample Explanations.	28
Absence of corrective feedback.	28
Quality of input	30
Lack of access to universal grammar.	30
Failure of parameter resetting	30
Learning inhibiting learning	31
Automatization of faulty knowledge	31
Lack of understanding.	32
Processing constraints	32
Lack of sensitivity to input	32
Change in emotional state.	33
Natural inclination to focus on content, not on form.	33

Avoidance.	34
Satisfaction of communicative needs	34
Lack of acculturation.	35
Will to maintain identity	36
Two Primary Determinants of Lack of Ability	38
Summary	42
 4 A Macroscopic Analysis: Critical Period Effects	44
The Critical Period Hypothesis	44
CPH in FLA and SLA	46
The Modular Nature of CP	55
Critical Period Effects on Language Learning.	57
Summary	62
 5 A Macroscopic Analysis: Native Language Transfer.	65
Transfer-inspired Delay in L2 Learning	68
‘Transfer to Somewhere’ and ‘Transfer to Nowhere’.	69
Transfer of ‘Thinking for Speaking’	75
Preprogramming	77
The Schwartz and Sprouse (1996) study.	77
The Sorace (1993) study	80
Summary	85
 6 A Microscopic Analysis: Some Empirical Evidence	87
Some Empirical Studies	87
The longitudinal approach	88
The typical-error approach	90
The advanced-learner approach	92
The corrective-feedback approach	95
The length-of-residence approach	97
Critique of the Methodologies	97
Two recent longitudinal studies	99
Is stabilization synonymous with fossilization?.	102
Should a longitudinal study last five years or longer?	104
The Modular Nature of Fossilization	106
Linguistic Features Prone to Fossilization	112
The Multiple Effects Principle	118
Summary.	121
 7 Second Language Instruction and Fossilization	125
To What Extent Does Instruction Aid Acquisition?	126
Explicit or implicit instruction?	129
Is grammar instruction necessary?	132

The zone of capability	136
To What Extent Does Instruction Promote Fossilization? . . .	147
Classroom input	151
Pedagogic strategies	157
Opportunity for use of language	161
Summary	161
8 Summary and Conclusion	166
A Synopsis	166
Implications for Research and Practice	169
General Directions for Future Research	174
References	177
Index	198